

MEMORANDUM

To: Degenerate GMs

From: Commissioner BlakeBro
Co-Commissioner Tony Loff

Date: August 19th, 2024

Re: New League Year

Folks, friends, enemies, and let's be honest, a lot of losers... WELCOME to another YUGE season of Degenerate Fantasy Football! Now, let me tell you, being Commissioner of this League – it's absolutely tremendous, the greatest honor of my life. People are saying, 'Sir, you're doing a fantastic job, the best job, really, nobody does it better.' And they're right. Nobody takes this job more seriously than me. Believe me – and I even took time away from what I do best (Fortnite dubs) to write this. But hey, there's one thing I'm even better at than that, and you all know what it is – winning fantasy football games. And not just winning, folks. Winning BIGLY.

Now, before we dive into the circus that is our league, let me remind you all about the golden ticket you've got in your pocket. Yes, the Franchise Tag. It's like what the current administration is handing out to illegal immigrants, folks. You get to keep a player for one year for free, just like those open borders—free for all, bad hombres everywhere. But after that, you've got to either release them or resign them at 2:1 for a minimum of three years. Simple stuff, but knowing this group, I'm sure someone (Tony Loff) will mess it up. Speaking of Tiny Tony, this man tried to tear our beautiful league apart with his little temper tantrum about the new rule. Folks, let me tell you – this attempt on my fantasy life... this coup d'etat – will not go unnoticed. The Lame Stream Media might be more focused on what can be, unburdened by what has been – but BlakeBro never forgets. I'm still here, stronger than ever, and ready to win. Always remember to FIGHT FIGHT FIGHT against tyrants like Tiny Tony who threaten this beautiful degenerate democracy.

No new members this year, which means we're stuck with the same old degenerates. Military Mikey, serving our country overseas – big hero, folks – but can't seem to score in enemy territory, in more ways than one. Dodgy Dave, tying the knot in two months – big move – I've done it three times but nobody compliments me on this – Dave, don't let that distract you from the real prize: fantasy glory. Then we've got Talkin' Tony Busch, always something to say, father of two, who still manages to visit BlakeBro in Vegas every year – unlike Fake News Ryan M, who's always got an excuse. Smart guy, loves Trump, but can't seem to make it to Vegas. Then there's Middling Matt, always landing in the middle of the pack – SAD! Poor guy couldn't live with his own failure... and where did that bring him? Back to Hammering Hannah – who's been running a train on the league for as long as I can remember. She's like the Rosie O'Donnell of the leagues, folks – if Rosie was good at anything. But let's not forget the beautiful First Ladies of the League, Madison and Pateel. For as lovely as they are, they sure know how to ruin a fantasy team. It's like Biden with a teleprompter, folks, wandering aimlessly – you can't make this stuff up. Finally, there's Lazy Levon, seeking asylum in Germany to run from his fantasy shortcomings. It's no surprise he can't build a winning team – more focused on his next schnitzel than his next draft pick. I met him once. Guy looked exactly like I expected – total loser! But he still pays his taxes (league dues) on-time and that's more than I can say for most of you.

With that, the New League Year is OFFICIALLY underway. Cheers to another year of bad picks, lobsided trades, and another championship for yours truly. Happy Fantasy!!
